AYER'S
CHERRY
PECTORAL,
FOR THE RAPID CURE OF Colds, Coughs, and Hoarseness.

BRIMFIELD, Mass., 20th Dec., 1855.
DR. AYER:—I do not hesitate to say the remedy I have ever found for Coughs, Colds, Influenza, and the concomitant horror of a Cold, is your CHERRY PECTORAL. Constant use in my practice and my family for the last ten years has shown it to possess virtues for the treatment of Chronic and Pulmonic diseases.
EBEN KNIGHT, M. D.

MORTLEY, Esq., of UTICA, N. Y., writes: "I have used CHERRY PECTORAL myself and in my family ever since it was introduced, and believe it the best medicine for its purposes ever made. Had cold I should sooner pay twenty five dollars for it than do without it, or take any other remedy."

Croup, Whooping Cough, Influenza.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Feb. 1, 1858.
DR. AYER:—I will cheerfully certify to you the great virtues of your CHERRY PECTORAL. We have used it in the cure of Whooping Cough, Croup, and Influenza in our children. We are of your opinion that it promotes the expectoration, and thereby relieves the lungs, and controls the disease. We have found it the best remedy we can buy, and we esteem you a benefactor to the afflicted, as the poor man's friend.
HIRAM CONKLIN, M. D.

LEE, Esq., MONTREAL, Jan. 30, 1855.
DR. AYER:—I have used your CHERRY PECTORAL in my own family, and in my practice, for Pulmonary Affections, which confessedly baffle the skill of the physician, and I have found it the most effectual remedy I have ever used. I have tried many medicines without relief; finally tried your CHERRY PECTORAL, at the advice of our clergyman. The first dose relieved the tickling in my throat and lungs; less than one half of the bottle cured me completely. Your medicines are the cheapest we can buy, and we esteem you a benefactor to the afflicted, as the poor man's friend.
HENRY L. PAHES, Merchant.

Lung or Phthisic, and Bronchitis.

WEST MANCHESTER, Pa., Feb. 1, 1858.
DR. AYER:—Your CHERRY PECTORAL is performing many remarkable cures in this section. It has relieved several from alarming lung complaint, and is now curing a man who has hemorrhage of the lungs for the last forty years.
HENRY L. PAHES, Merchant.

RAMSEY, M. D., ALBION, MONROE Co., Iowa, Feb. 1, 1858:—"During my practice of many years I have found nothing equal to your CHERRY PECTORAL for giving ease to the consumptive patients, or curing such as are curable. I might add volumes of evidence, but the most astonishing is the virtues of this remedy is found in its every day use.

Consumption.

Why, no one's family has ever been known which could not find such dangerous cases as this. Some no human skill could benefit, but even to those the CHERRY PECTORAL gives comfort.

ASTOR HOUSE, NEW YORK CITY, March 3, 1858.
DR. AYER, LOWELL:—I feel it a duty and a pleasure to inform you what your CHERRY PECTORAL has done for me. I have been five months laboring under the dangerous disease of Consumption, from which no aid we could procure gave me relief. She was steadily failing, until Dr. Stevens, of this city, advised me to procure your medicine. We have the sequel for advice, recommended it, and from that day. She began to mend from that day. She is not yet as well as we could be, but is free from her cough, and could breathe as freely as ever, with gratitude and regard.
ORLANDO SHELBY, or SHELBY & CO.

Sufferers, do not despair till you have tried AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It is made by one of the best medical chemists in the world, and its cures all round us bespeak the high confidence it merits. Philadelphia Ledger.

AYER'S Cathartic Pills.

Eminent Chemists and Medicine have been unable to produce this best, most perfect of purgatives known to man. Innumerable proofs are given that they have virtues which surpass in excellence, as well as in safety, all other cathartics. They are safe and pleasant to take. Their power to cure is certain, where we have reason for advice, recommended it to our friends as the best medicine. We trust his kindness, as we do yours, has been rewarded from that day. She is not yet as well as we could be, but is free from her cough, and could breathe as freely as ever, with gratitude and regard.

With the stars of a Union inborn and true

Enlistment of Negro Soldiers by the Rebels

The telegraph some weeks ago announced that the rebel Government proposed to arm an immense number of slaves in support of the rebellion, and as compensation for their services, promised them freedom and home steads Recent news by mail furnishes us with more particular accounts of this proposition, and the motives which induced its adoption.

Though slaves had been used in considerable force during the war—very many being in the ranks as soldiers, it was not till after the July victories, that the necessity pressed itself upon the rebel leaders, of calling to the field the vast resource, which they believed was ready for their use in the millions of slaves who were subject to their control Some doubt was entertained as to the expediency and safety of the measure, but while it was pending, Beauregard asked for authority to arm regiments of slaves for the defense of Charleston, and the Governor of Alabama, anxious about the peril of Mobile, desired leave to secure its protection in the same way, and also recommended the raising of negro troops in his own State, by a public proclamation

Davis's cabinet approved the plan and he was not opposed to it, but summoned the Governors of all the rebel States to Richmond for consultation on the subject They came and after fifteen days' secret conference, it was decided that the salvation of the Confederacy demanded the immediate enlistment of four hundred thousand negroes, which has accordingly been ordered to be made. Many considerations operated to bring about this result. Among others, it is mentioned that "while the discussion was going on, a member of the Cabinet stated that the enlistment of the blacks in the Confederate ranks, and the gift of their freedom and a portion of land as a reward for their services, would cause the great majority of the European people adverse to slavery to become friends of the South and force their Governments to interest themselves in its behalf It would at the same time show that the black, who had been represented as the enemy of his master, was in reality, his friend, and the greatest mark of this friendship was to be found in the confidence the white man has in the obedience and fidelity of the black, who, by this act, was suddenly elevated to a position of trust and confidence unparalleled in the history of the world. All these considerations could not fail, it was said, to engage the attention of the European public, and to place the Southern Confederacy upon higher political and moral ground"

This statement destroyed all opposition, and caused the measure to be unanimously adopted. Such is the history of the scheme for arming the slaves and making them the defenders of the rebellion—a scheme which, though it may and must conduce to the general emancipation of the slaves, will, as we believe, cause more disaster and terrible sorrow in the South, than any other plan which the Government can devise for its conquest Nor do we believe that it can at this late day secure any sympathy for the rebellion abroad, for though the black soldier may be set free, he has himself earned his own liberty, but his family will still be slaves, that sort of emancipation will win no foreign admiration —it will, in that respect, be a failure

Since writing the above, we observe the following allusion to this subject in the Washington correspondence of the S F. Bulletin, received yesterday

The rebel report, that Jeff Davis, after consultation with the Southern Governors, had determined to put in the field half a million of slaves, is regarded here with much more interest than the public seem to be aware of The report has already been the subject of discussion at two different Cabinet meetings, and no little anxiety is felt in regard thereto Mr. Chase professes to disbelieve in toto the report. He thinks the rebels dare not arm their slaves Several other members of the Cabinet, however, entertain a very different opinion, and cite the fact that thousands of slaves refused to accept freedom at the hands of the Union troops and remained true to their masters The rebels would select only such of their slaves as could be relied on, and these, when well armed and led on by their masters, would be a formidable power. But will the chivalry of the South turn their backs upon principle—upon the oft reiterated declaration that negroes would not be recognized as soldiers, nor treated as prisoners of war when captured? If their necessities have forced them to this change in policy—this deviation from principle—then the conflict will indeed become more terrible still Our public authorities are anxiously awaiting further information

A STEP THAT CANNOT BE RETRACED.—The Sonora Flag says

No slave has any legal existence in rebel territory after the ground has been again overshadowed by the flag of the nation Humble as the negro is, the faith of the American Government is pledged to him and to the world that he shall be free, and that power does not exist beneath the Throne of Heaven which can weld one of the parted links of his shackles The American Government cannot if it would it could not face the storm of reproach that would drift upon it from other Christian nations It could not keep down a revolution of popular opinion in the free States, scarcely less formidable than the slavery rebellion

UNION SENTIMENT IN THE REBEL ARMY.—The Cincinnati Commercial publishes a letter from a well known citizen of Georgia who recently left that State and is now within our lines, which imbodies some instructive facts We quote,

The feeling of the South is this The property holders of land and slaves control the masses, and they will hold to the army, at all hazards the poor—because they must for everything in case of failure. Many of them would gladly go back to the old Union however, was this fear not entertained and the men, the poor men, the mill and mine men, the Yankee Fords, Rhett and the infamous Howell Cobb would go home at any time if they could

But how are they to do it? If they leave the army and return to the Southern lines they will be shot to death on sight and if they come to the North their family must suffer They have row to hoe, in Confederate money $100 per pound for bacon and the same price per dozen for spun thread and shoes are played out One third of the Southern army are to day Union men and never would fire off rebellion but the bayonet has done to them what it will do for the whole land, unless it is guarded against

The same writer also remarks as to the Confederate Vice President

I cannot leave this connection without referring to Alexander H Stephens Recently, if he had been permitted to go to Washington, they would have hung him sure He is Vice President of the Southern Confederacy, it is true, but to this moment he is a Union man I was born and raised within eight miles of him and no man knows him better than I do we toiled together for the Union but when Toombs and Cobb kicked double Georgia out of the Union he felt that it was his duty to play a part That part will only be known to that God who caused the shadow to go down upon the dial of Ahaz But still Stephens is a Union man and a Christian

LEWISTON ITEMS.—The following items from the Golden Age are condensed by the Mountaineer

The total white population of Idaho Territory is 32 342 Of this number 7,109 are voters

R F Lambkin, of Lewiston has been appointed Territorial Auditor vice John M Bacon resigned

The farmers in the Bitter Root valley have raised excellent crops this year, both of vegetables and cereals

A Pend d Oreille Indian, charged with the murder of John W Ward, has been arrested and handed over to the authorities

Some half breed Indians have come into Hellgate, and report good prices on the Kootenay or Flat Head Lake They obtained as high as 50 and 75 cents to the pan

Governor Wallace has ordered the Territorial election to be held on Saturday the 31st of October At this election members of the Legislature and a Delegate to Congress are to be elected

Father De Smet, the celebrated missionary, is journeying across the mountains and may be expected at Walla Walla in a few days

Very rich diggings have been discovered on Rhodes' creek, about one and a half miles above Orofino The average is one dollar to the pan

A party has been fitted out at Lewiston for the Kootenia mines They expect to join Capt Mullan's party at the Coeur d Alene Mission and proceed in company

CONFEDERATE MONEY.—The Richmond Enquirer groans in anguish over the constant issue and continuous depreciation of the Confederate money notes It says

Memminger's (Rebel Secretary of the Treasury) press is grinding the life out of us Every turn of the horrible engine is raising the present price of everything we eat, drink and wear, and for the future is laying up an additional load of debts to crush us with taxes —us and our children, unto the third and fourth generations It is not the Secretary's wish to flood us with any more of his paper Gladly would he stop his press if he could He knows as well as any one that the country has already far too much of this sort of money and if he could gather and burn a hundred wagon loads of it he would dance with joy round the fire. But what can he do? The public service must be paid in that which passes current as money, and if great floods of it are always passing out of the Treasury and but little coming back, he must supply the deficiency by new issues, until at last the volume of current paper must be so much in excess of the commodities to be purchased with it that those who have anything to sell will not believe that they can ever demand too much of it for a pound of beef or a pair of shoes

DISPATCH FROM GARIBALDI.—An item in the foreign news is the following dispatch, from the pen of Gen. Garibaldi

CAPRERA, August 6, 1863

To Abraham Lincoln, Emancipator of the slaves in the American Republic If in the midst of your Titanic battles our voice can reach you, let us O. Lincoln, free son of Columbus send you a word of good wishes and admiration for the great work that you have begun

Heir to the aspirations of Christ and John Brown, you will pass to posterity with the name of the Emancipator more enviable than any crown or any human treasure

An entire race of men, bowed by selfish egotism under the yoke of slavery is, at the price of the noblest blood of America restored by you to the dignity of man to civilization and to love

America, mistress of liberty, to our fathers, opens again the solemn epoch of human progress, and while she astonishes the world by gigantic daring, she makes us sorrowfully think how this old Europe, which alights so great a battle for liberty, had neither mind or heart to equal hers While the revolters in deep storm raise their baccha nalian orgies over the full of a free people let free men religiously keep sacred the day of the fall of slavery There are mysterious parallels in history—the robbery of Mexico and the Lincoln proclamation Prosperity to you, Abraham Lincoln, pilot of Liberty hail to all you who for two years have fought and died around her regenerating banner, welcome to you redeemed sons of Hun—the free men of Italy kiss the glorious marks of your chains

A FIGHTING PARSON.—In the Erie Annual Conference, now in session at Rushville, Dr G W Clarke stated that J J Bentley had surrendered his credentials as local preacher He went to the war as captain, and maintained a fair character Dr Clarke said

His reasons are that having been in the war and fought the rebels he now finds on perhead on his return, and cannot very well maintain his Christian and ministerial character, but is inclined to be tremendously excited, and is afraid somebody may get hurt

Over 2 000 mounted Unionists joined Col Cloud's command and promise to serve for the defense of their homes From 10 to 50 deserters reach Little Rock daily They take the oath of allegiance and are released

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—A Memphis letter of the 22d says that a formidable expedition against Mobile is being inaugurated, and hints that the force against Texas will not interfere with it Ironclads from the Mississippi are to co-operate with a large land force

The same letter says that Sherman's corps is on the way to Rosecrans, and gives a rumor that McPherson's corps is also en route to the same destination The two corps number 40,000 men

A New Orleans letter of the 16th says that military matters are active The expedition of Gen Banks has cleared the country between the Red River and Port Hudson from guerrilla parties who had been firing on transports and drove them Green west of Carrollton with a considerable loss Among the captures was an agent of the rebel Government, with important papers

News of September 28th.

NEW YORK, September 28.—The World's special Washington letter says that the good news received from Rosecrans is interpreted by the official organ to mean that reinforcements had reached him Our present position at Chattanooga is such that an attack on our line is exceedingly improbable

The material condition of the army of the Potomac is very satisfactory There is good reason to believe that Lee's force will not risk an engagement and that if he should attempt a flank movement his labor will be in vain A large portion of our army is encamped near Culpeper, Warrenton, Sulphur Springs—Government at present has on hand in different depots throughout the country 300 effective stand of arms The number is rapidly increasing, by an [illegible] of 25 000 rifles per month Under a contract made by Secretary Cameron two years ago with private parties, for 200,000 rifled arms only 25 000 have yet been delivered

Remarkable Cure.

BATH, MAINE, Co. (Mich) Oct 5th, 1863.

MESSRS. A. L. SCOVILL & Co.—In reply to inquiries as to the efficacy of your DR BAKER'S PAIN PANACEA, justice requires of me to state that, having at times been attacked by a violent contraction of the muscles of the legs, I experienced immediate relief by taking 25 or 30 drops in a swallow of the Pain Panacea mixed from the bottle. It is rather a tough remedy, but I have always found the smarting of the Panacea a very happy exchange for the excruciating pains attending cramps in the limbs.

Your obedient servant,

SAMUEL HENDRY.

☞ In Every Age of the World, the professions have been slow to admit the value of new discoveries, or the expediency of adopting them in practice. It is not to the local profession that we look for reforms in jurisprudence, neither do we find the advocates of medical reform among physicians. Each deprecates whatever is found to innovate upon received opinions and established usage. Hence the opposition which medical men too often exhibit to the use of private remedies, whatever their acknowledged value, or great efficiency in the cure of disease. No medicine has ever done more for the relief of human suffering than DR. OSGOOD'S INDIA CHOLAGOGUE. The certainty with which it cures Fever and Ague, and eradicates bile from the system is acknowledged by all. Do you prefer a speedy and effectual cure to a regular and scientific run of disease? Try the Cholagogue, and the object is accomplished. Then tell your suffering neighbor what it has done for you, that it may do the same for him.

Conversation with a Rebel Prisoner

The author of 'Among the Pines,' gives the following account of a conversation he had with C. J. Brewer a prisoner at Nashville Tennessee and formerly a leading lawyer of that city. The Colonel it seems did not hesitate to declare that Republican institutions are a failure and that the rebellion has been fighting to establish the principle of perpetuated in his own family.

The writer after showing how he came to visit the Colonel and describing the room he occupied, goes on

His then occupant was a man of about thirty five, and of decidedly prepossessing appearance. He had a fine intellectual face and long brown hair as soft and glossy as a woman's, but a full dark eye wide strong jaws, and a firmly cut mouth, showed him possessed of a manly, determined character. I saw at a glance he was no common man. He was dressed in the Confederate uniform and as he lay on the outside of his cot in half recumbent attitude he every now and then moved uneasily, as if in pain. Seeing this I said

'Are you wounded?'

'Yes, your boys gave me a pill when they captured me. The ball entered here opening his shirt and showing a large scar just below his heart. The flesh has healed but the ribs are not yet well knit together. It bothers me some to keep an easy position. But, tell me what is your name and where do you live?'

I told him.

"And do you know a gentleman of your name—let me see, what is his first name? I think."

"I can't say that I know him, but I ought to. I am the man himself."

'You are,' and raising himself on his elbow he shook me again warmly by the hand. 'I am delighted to know you. I've heard Dick speak often of you.'

"I know him well we were intimate friends for twenty years."

'So he's told me. We've been all through the war together. He is a major of a fellow. Davis has just made him a General! But he says you're turned Abolitionist.'

'Not exactly that, but I go for putting down rebellion and I think it can be done without taking away your slaves.'

'But you can't put us down,' he replied good humoredly. 'you'll have to crush our military power before you can reach the darkies, and you ought to know you can't do that.'

"I don't know it. It is a mere question of time and numbers, three to one are sure to conquer in the long run."

'When the three have brains but you see, your three have not.'

'I know your Generals have thus far shown more ability than ours, but occasions are sure to develop men though it may take time. How long was it before the English Revolution produced Cromwell, and the French Napoleon?'

"A long time I know. But Generals are not what you want. You have them now. You have Rosecrans and Banks and Grant, and little Phil Sheridan down there at Murfreesboro! Either of them is a match for any leader we have, and Rosecrans is a head and shoulders above any General on this continent. He has a great organizing military mind. He never makes a mistake. He checkmated Lee so handsomely in Western Virginia that Lee himself is not ashamed to own it. If we had him we'd whip you in ninety days but you shut him up without supplies or horses, where he can do nothing, and where our cavalry can walk round him, as a fellow walks round a pole at a circus. It is not Generals you want. You want an Administration.

"But we think we have one," answered laughing, "slow it may be but sure and we're honest as the times will allow it."

"It's true it is slow—but—honest! Talk of its being honest, with a Stanton in it! a man as corrupt as sin, and as venal! as a Tombs lawyer! Why, sir, he's as ignorant as a darkey, and yet you trust the management of a great war to him. But, it suits us exactly. It convinces me that the Almighty means we shall be free."

"But you are not and never will be free. Your Government is a despotism already, and whatever may be said of ours our liberties are safe with it."

"Liberties! There is an awful amount of cant about that word. Our people are as free as people should be. The idea of universal suffrage—making a small sovereign out of every ignorant clod-hopper who comes into the country, is played out. We've tried it under the old Government and had enough of it. Republican institutions are a failure, and you'll be convinced of it before many years."

A two hours conversation, ranging over these and kindred subjects, ensued between the Colonel and myself, and in the course of it he stated that it is the purpose of the rebel leaders to form an elective monarchy, and that they had that design at the inception of the rebellion. 'I own no slaves,' he said, 'and am therefore not personally interested in sustaining the institution. I am fighting for something that I can leave to my descendants—a title that can be perpetuated in my family, and I know, whether I live or die, I shall be successful for if I am killed my country will do justice to my children."

He spoke freely and openly of this "I am willing," he said 'that all mankind should know it. The time has gone by when it was policy to conceal it from our poorer classes. We have them now where they must submit, and with the rest of the world—England, France, Spain and even Russia, which is cotton to the North it will vastly help us."

He expressed the opinion that a rupture is imminent between England and the United States. 'England until now has covertly played into our hands. She will soon throw off the mask and do overt acts that will make war inevitable, if the Northern people have a spark of manhood or self respect left.'

If Vicksburg had not fallen if Lee had not been defeated if the copperhead leaders had not been foiled in their attempt to force New York into the rebellion what the rebel colonel predicted might ere long prove true. But as the events have occurred, it may now reasonably be expected that the roar of the British lion will subside into a sound as soft as the plaintive voice of a sorrowing calf.

OFFICIAL.

LAWS OF THE UNITED STATES.

Passed at the Third Session of the Thirty Seventh Congress.

[PUBLIC—No. 69.]

AN ACT for increasing the revenue by reservation and sale of town sites on public lands.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled that it shall be the duty of the President of the United States to reserve from the public lands whether surveyed or unsurveyed town sites on the shores of harbors at the head of navigation on the banks of navigable rivers at the crossings of highways or any natural or prescriptive centres of population.

Sec. 2. And be it further enacted That when in the opinion of the President the public interests require it it shall be the duty of the Secretary of the Interior to cause any of said reservations or part thereof to be surveyed into urban or suburban lots of suitable size and to dispose of the same at public sale to the highest bidder and thereafter to be held subject to sale at private entry according to such regulations as the Secretary of the Interior may prescribe. The proceeds of the sales of such lots shall be paid into the Treasury of the United States in the same manner as proceeds of sales of public lands are required to be paid. Provided that the President may in his discretion withdraw from reservation any of the lots or parts of lots reserved under the provisions of this act whenever in his opinion the public interests may require it.

Sec. 3. And be it further enacted That all lots remaining unsold at the expiration of three years after the same shall have been offered at public sale as aforesaid shall be subject to private entry at such price not less than the minimum price established by law for the public lands of the district within which they may be situated as may be fixed by the Secretary of the Interior.

Sec. 4. And be it further enacted That all timber cut upon the public lands in the district of Puget Sound in the Territory of Washington Territory during the continuance of the present war with Great Britain shall be forfeited to the United States and it shall be the duty of the Secretary of the Interior to cause the timber so cut to be seized and sold at public auction by the collector of the district of Puget Sound or such other officer as he may designate for the purpose after giving thirty days notice of the time and place of such sale by publication in one newspaper published in the city of Olympia and one published in the city of San Francisco and the proceeds of such sales shall be paid into the Treasury of the United States. And it shall be the duty of the collector of the district of Puget Sound and of all officers of the United States within the said district to report to the Secretary of the Interior all violations of this act which may come to their knowledge and to furnish him with such information as may be in their power as to the persons by whom and the circumstances under which such violations have been committed.

Sec. 5. And be it further enacted That all timber cut upon the public lands in the district of Puget Sound in the Territory of Washington during the continuance of the present war with Great Britain is hereby declared to be the property of the United States and it shall be the duty of the President to cause the same to be seized and taken possession of by such officers or agents as he may appoint for the purpose and to cause the same to be sold in such manner as he may direct and the proceeds of such sales to be paid into the Treasury of the United States.

Approved March 3, 1863.
